Cybersecurity by leaders who know business and security.

“It has been and always will be our mission to deliver enterprise-grade technology and service to our partners and the businesses they service. It is our job to stay one step ahead of cyber criminals so partners can focus on business growth without interruption.”

— Jon Murchison, Founder & CEO

“It is important to us that our partners know they can call us 24/7/365 and a human will pick up the phone to help them when others don’t.”

— Wil Santiago, SVP of Blackpoint's Response Operations Center

“If you experience a breach, the brand impact can create much more harm for your business in the long term than the breach itself. It is our job to protect your data, yes, but also your reputation.”

— Mike Estep, Chief Client Officer

Technology that delivers the protection and enablement to thrive.

"After working at the NSA—as a good guy for the bad guys—I felt there was a need for more robust and effective protection. I wanted to build something that would stop the advanced threats I saw in the field."

— Jon Murchison, Founder & CEO

"I joined Blackpoint because I knew this product had immense potential to provide a level of protection and service no one else is or can."

— Manoj Srivastava, Chief Technology and Product Officer

"We keep an eye on threats and evolve our product strategy to stay one step ahead. Operating on the offense is the only way to truly defeat threats and maintain business operations."

— Xavier Salinas, Chief Innovation Officer
